

Cyberware can be implanted up to the amount of slots and cyberware capacity each person has

Cyberware capacity is determined by:

Your current number of skill points x2

Then add your con mod, str mod and dex mod x 5

Cyberware comes with effects and modifier on each piece, based on the tier, the given modifier is Random and part of a randomly assigned pool.

Slots

Unless stated otherwise due to perks or special exceptions each person can implant

2 frontal cortex

1 operating system

1 arm slot

1 face slot

1 skeleton slots

1 hands

3 nervous system

3 circulatory systems

2 integumentary systems

1 leg cyberware

Insert ports

A insert port is that shit on peoples necks in cyberpunk that they plug chips of various purposes into. Be Careful about what you give access to your mind.

Every person will start with a single insert port (unless you don't want it, in which case gain 5 cyberware capacity)

The default port holds 1 data shard, 1 feat shard and 1 fight shard. So what is each shard:

Data shards

A data shard is made to hold advanced information, when inserted it will show maps, camera feeds and whatever is stored on it. Use these to have a full understanding of whatever location you have mapped out.

Money shards and perk shards can also be slotted into this port. Offering perk points and money respectively.

Feat shard

A feat shard holds a singular feat from a list of approved feats from regular dnd and some added ones. They can be found outside and inserted, or they can be purchased from a ripper doc.

Fight shard

A fight shard holds a singular fighting style from the list of approved fighting styles from DnD and some new cyberpunk ones. They can be found outside and inserted, or they can be purchased from a ripper doc.

Relic

A relic holds a construct, be it of a person, A.I, fictional charcuterie or really anything. When you insert a relic you don't know what you're getting unless you're told.

Relics offer supernatural abilities depending on the kind of construct.

Can be implanted in any slot

Attribute shards

Attribute shards hold +1 upgrades for one of the six major stats, therefore they are quite rare.

An attribute shard can also be for a skill instead, such as perception, investigation or performance.

Arm implants

35 cap

An arm implant containing various gasses and liquids, one arm fires a choice of three different gasses and the other a choice of three different liquids. However the amounts of each liquid and gas is limited per long rest, so they are used after one or two uses.

Example uses

Gasoline - you can spray enemies with gas and light them on fire to deal 2d8 fire damage and set enemies on fire causing 1d8 fire damage per turn. You can also fill vehicles with gas and another other use you can think of

Smoke - fire out smoke to creat a smokescreen to help you escape from a tough spot

Sleeping gas - knock enemies out shortly

Acid - spray enemies with acid, dealing extra damage to organic enemies

Rust - spray machines with liquid rust to slow their movement and prevent them from taking reaction

But your allowed any liquids or gas you want if you can get it and give me a proposed usage.

Holo-fabricator

This device is one that rests in the arm and has holo discs equal to the cyberwares tier. These discs create whatever hologram the user wants and can fool enemies, block cameras and hide escapes.

Each disc can be used as many times as the user wants as long as it's recovered.

Using a disc either takes an action to throw and install the intended image, or two bonus actions over two turns.

As a bonus action, the discs can also explode to deal 2d6 + cyberware tier damage, but then can't be recovered, activates the below effects based on what one you have.

Regular - enemy bleeds and takes 1d4 per 15ft of movement for 2 turns

Shock - enemies take electric damage and are shocked if they fail a con save losing their movement or a turn

Thermal - enemies burn until they pass a dex or con save and take 1d6 damage per turn

Toxic - deals poison damage and applies the poisoned condition on a failed con save

Mantis blades

2d8 + dex damage weapons and can apply bleed

Gain retractable blades from your arms, use them in whatever flavour ways you can think of

-climb walls
-attack people secretly
And whatever else you can think of

The main ability of mantis blades is leap - jump 10ft forwards or in any direction, this counts as a air dash for perk benefits, in an attack immune to opportunity attacks. It will deal regular damage plus an additional bonus damage equal to the cyberwares tier, and the attack is usable equal to the cyber wares tier.

Special effect mantis blades apply different statuses from leaps

Regular - enemy bleeds and takes 1d4 per 15ft of movement for 2 turns

Shock - enemies take electric damage and are shocked if they fail a con save losing their movement or a turn

Gorilla arms

2d8 + str weapons and replaced your melee attacks, so any bonus for melee attacks are replaced with this.

This also adds this weapons cyberware tier to any strength check to throw or grapple enemies or objects.

On those throws or grapple activate these effects based on what gorilla arms you have

Regular - enemy bleeds and takes 1d4 per 15ft of movement for 2 turns

Shock - enemies take electric damage and are shocked if they fail a con save losing their movement or a turn

Monowire

1d8 sweeping slashing damage + int
Monowire hits all enemies within 5ft of you in any direction

Recover 1 Ram for each enemy hit by the monowire

grappling an enemy with it applies a control quickhack of your choice for free, additionally when you grapple an enemy activate the effect below depending on what monowire you have:

Regular - enemy bleeds and takes 1d4 per 15ft of movement for 2 turns

Shock - enemies take electric damage and are shocked if they fail a con save losing their movement or a turn

Thermal - enemies burn until they pass a dex or con save and take 1d6 damage per turn

Projectile launch system

35 cal

Replaces your grenade slot and cooldown, launches a projectile with a range of 100ft and deals 3d8 fire damage + cyberware tier damage, you have charges equal to half your con mod or half this cyberwares capacity and you regain one charge every 5 turns of combat.

The attack itself is an area attack that makes the enemy roll a dex save to take half damage but hits multiple enemies.

The attack can be charged as an action to raise range to 200ft and damage by 1d8 then released as a bonus action next turn.

Face implants

Having higher zoom allows you to more accurately watch people from far away, additionally you don't have disadvantage due to distance from those ranges

The zoom also determines how far you can scan an enemy from
